PUTNAM

Captain J. B. Bulger on Wednesday afternoon ordered the release of a Ford touring car that has been held for a week here at the garage of Byron E. Wilcox.

The car was left there to be repaired Wednesday by a Daniel Wilcox of New Bedford, who was en route from that city to New York when the machine went out of commission.

Upon inspecting the car at the garage it was noted that what should have been registration number 8172 had been changed by painting out the 9's on both number plates to make the number 8173. This appeared to be a suspicious circumstance, so the matter was reported to the police and it was ordered by Captain Bulger that the car be taken to the police station for investigation.

Wilcox, with his wife and two children appeared here from New Bedford on Wednesday of this week to claim the car, but he was referred to Captain Bulger.

In the meantime the officer had been in touch with a police department at New Bedford and had learned something of Wilcox; also that the car was registered in the name of Gertrude Wilcox, wife of the man who brought it here.

When Wilcox talked with the captain on Wednesday he told the officer that he had painted over the number plates sometime ago and had neglected to paint the 9's back on them. He said that he was in the Massachusetts automobile authorities.

Captain Bulger was told by the chief of police at New Bedford that Wilcox is out under bonds in that city and that later he will be taken into custody of breaking and entering and larceny.

There was no special reason, however for holding the car here, as the matter will be taken up with the automobile authorities for such action as they may see fit to take.

The members of St. Philip's guild held an entertainment Wednesday evening in the guild room at the church. Mrs. Edith C. Herlihy was the hostess. (a) The Bachelor and the Maid; (b) Legitimate Doubts; (c) A Life Lesson; (d) Money Musk; Mrs. Everett; music, orchestra; reading, Just Like Other Folks, Mrs. Everett.

It is announced that the attendance at the May 1st of the Girls' club in the town of Thompson is the largest in the history of the institution. The increase has been so great as to require additional quarters, so the home of Mrs. George E. Dresser has been obtained.

Just what the deficit of Windham county will be as shown by forthcoming annual reports the county commissioners have not as yet given out, but it is understood that it will be considerable. For a county that has had such easy going financially as Windham county under a splendid policy and very able management during the past twenty years it will seem rather odd to hear of yearly deficits hereafter, as possibly will be the rule, but losses in revenue and the extra cost of maintenance of institutions are things that cannot be avoided and a county tax may become a regular feature, though not necessarily so.

Wapquoctet tribe of Red Men of this city will celebrate their centenary this evening. There is to be a program of music and dancing and refreshments are to be served.
